The council was established with the slogan, "Tobishima as a village of social welfare, where all the people can live in their beloved old homes with peace of mind." Supported by membership fees, donations, a portion of the community chest and subsidies, the council promotes welfare in the region.

Tobishima Village places "Health Care Project" as its core policy and seeks to become the healthiest village with the longest-living residents in Japan, where people can spend their lives cheerfully with enhanced social welfare.
